Issue Warning To Motorized Ski Sleds

Sgt. Roman Sonsara of the Michigan State Police, Houghton Lake, today stated the winter snows have brought out the motorized ski sleds and motorists on the highway must be on the lookout for them.

In addition to being smaller than the automobile and more difficult to see, the motorized ski sleds are being operated illegally in that they are not licensed to operate on the highway.

Sgt. Sonsara pointed out that the law is clear on the point that motorized vehicles that are designed to carry persons or property over the highway must be licensed unless they have a special exemption. There is no special exemption for motorized ski sleds to operate on the streets and highways.

Sgt. Sonsara said he hoped a warning to the operators of the motorized ski sleds would be sufficient, however if they persist in using the roadway illegally, enforcement action will have to be taken.

Pulpwood Operators Computerize

By Willard Bossorman
County Extension Natural Resource Agent

Some pulpwood operations in Michigan have gone to computerized record keeping. They felt that with so many records to keep on employees now that they needed some help in keeping everything straight.

Five years ago, Michigan State University Agricultural Economics Department developed an electronics method of keeping records for farmers. Today it has been adapted for pulpwood operators.

It works like this, the pulpwood operator keeps record of his financial activities, at the end of the month he sends a copy to the computer center at East Lansing. The computer figures total paid each employee, the amount withheld for federal and state income tax, social security, and workman's compensation. At the end of the year these figures are all computed ready to put on the income tax form.

The depreciation is computed and totaled at the end of the year. An analysis of the enterprise is given. The operator has the opportunity to discuss the business and analysis with the district farm management agent Russell Howes. He can compare his business with business factors which give the operator where adjustments can be made to improve his business.

Pulpwood operators can obtain more information about the computer by getting in touch with me at the County Building, Roscommon, Michigan, 275-5043.

After the interesting program all were invited to have coffee. The luncheon table was attractive with bud vases holding yellow roses, centered with an Anniversary Cake also decorated with yellow roses, and guarded on either side by lighted tapers. ## Michigan Snow Resorts Ready For Ski Crowd

LANSING — Bring on the snow, Michigan is ready for the 1967-68 winter vacation season. Eighty-three winter sports centers, including two new areas and another that is reopening after being closed for a year, are ready to host an expected record number of winter sports enthusiasts, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Major improvements have also been made at many centers including new lodging, slopes, multi-place lifts and towes.

An estimated 300,000 skiers, in addition to several hundred thousand ice fishermen, snowmobile enthusiasts, festival-goers and sightseers, are expected to join in Michigan's winter fun, usually beginning in mid-November and continuing through early April.

Skiers alone are expected to spend some $30 million, an increase of about $2 million over the 1966-67 season when ideal conditions for winter sports contributed to record spending.

Michigan is well equipped to host vacationing skiers with facilities ranging from modest to plush and a price for every budget.

In addition to weekend skiing, many winter sports centers offer economical ski-week packages including lodging, dining, ski instruction, entertainment, programs for children and baby sitting. Most centers feature instruction and rental equipment. More than half of Michigan's centers have snow-making equipment, giving mother nature a hand with snow conditions, and about the same number have lighted slopes for night skiing.

To accommodate large crowds during peak periods, there are more than 650 slopes and over 400 lifts and towes, including 46 double, triple, and four-place chairs.

Seven centers have heated swimming pools, two have airplane landing strips, 43 offer meals and 28 have cocktail lounges and bars.

Dancing, entertainment and teen activities are offered at many centers in addition to skating, snowmobiling, sauna baths, sleigh rides and fashion shops.

Fifteen of Michigan's winter sports centers are located in the upper peninsula where the (See Snow Resort — Page 8)

What Is It?

By Daniel F. Kesselring
Soil Conservationist
The Crawford-Roscommon Soil Conservation District is a local subdivision of state government. It is organized and managed by the local people; citizens of Crawford and Roscommon counties.

Houghton King, Jr., of Houghton Lake was elected the first chairman of the Crawford-Roscommon Soil Conservation District by his fellow directors. Other directors are: LeRoy Wahl, St. Helen; Treasurer; Ken Carter, St. Helen; Andie Neilson, Roscommon; and Stanley Hummel, Frederic. Willard Bossorman, Natural Resource Agent, Cooperative Extension Service, is the appointed Executive Secretary.

The Soil Conservation District provides assistance to any landowner or operator in the Crawford-Roscommon area. To receive assistance a request must be made to the District Board of Directors. Requests can be made at the Cooperative Extension Service office in the Roscommon County Building or at the Soil Conservation Service office in the Michigan Department of Conservation in Roscommon. These requests are reviewed by the District Board of Directors at their regular monthly meetings.

The assistance is not provided by the district directly, but through the district by local, state and federal agencies. The Soil Conservation District is a clearing house for requests from local landowners and operators. The District Board of Directors is responsible for determining job priorities when reviewing requests. Each year the directors determine where the greatest need for soil conservation work is and develop a program to achieve the need.

YULE TREE THEFT LAW IN EFFECT

Deer hunters and others tempted to haul a Christmas tree home from the north are reminded by the Michigan Department of Agriculture that transportation of trees, evergreen boughs and some other plants is illegal without a bill of sale or proof of property ownership.

During the month of December, there is an exception to the law, and not more than two trees may then be transported without any bill of sale. This exception was arranged to accommodate the heavy pre-Christmas traffic in trees, the agriculture department said.

Thanksgiving, 1967

In this hurried world, there are still a few who pause and with humility and reverence recall our heritage and give thanks for our food and material blessings. Thanksgiving is time. The first Thanksgiving Day was observed by the pilgrims at Plymouth Colony after the first harvest in 1621. President Lincoln proclaimed the fourth Thursday of November as Thanksgiving Day, and it has been so since that time.

Legislation is now before Congress which would shift the observance of five of our national holidays to Mondays, on the theory that this would break up the working week and provide for three-day weekends. Shifts are proposed for Washington's Birthday (to become Presidents Day), Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day and Thanksgiving. Whatever may be the result of this proposal as it affects the rest of these holidays, one may hope that Thanksgiving is not included among them. As things now stand, Thanksgiving is generally observed as a four-day holiday for families to get together — schools are closed from Wednesday till Monday. It would be sharply changed if Thanksgiving were just another three-day weekend. For more than a hundred years, the fourth Thursday of every year has been the time for families to serve under the Lord's bounty — the traditional Thanksgiving dinner. Changing this day would detract from its significance. Tradition is an important part of the continuity that binds a people and to a nation. In these times, it would seem well for us to keep as many of our traditions as we can.

ANGEM BACK ALIVE

Look at this '68 "youngmobile" from Oldsmobile.

Wouldn't it look great in your driveway?

This new Cutlass S has a way of making things look younger. Even driveways. That's because of all the young ideas we built into it. A bigger 350-cubic-inch V-8, for instance. (Or, if you prefer, an Action-Line 6.) And a taut coil spring suspension that makes it easy to cut and turn in tight places. And you can order a whole carful of young-it-up accessories like bucket seats, stick-shift or stereo. But if you think Cutlass S is young all over, don't forget that it is Olds all over, too. Olds quality. Olds engineering and the new GM safety features are all standard.

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By Elmer E. White

BIG BATTLE

Who will run the schools continues to shape up as a major issue. It must be dealt with in the near future.

The hassle at Northern Michigan University where some students and some faculty people refused to attend classes to demonstrate their objection to an administration decision is only one feather in a big wind of controversy. The "strike" dissipated in the face of an apparent not-so-empty threat from a legislative committee to close down the university altogether.

Teacher's strikes at the local level made a serious problem earlier this fall. Those are settled now. But another fall is coming.

The elimination of local school boards is the aim of one military teacher union. According to Thomas Hill, Michigan Federation of Teachers, the local boards serve no function and should be destroyed. Since there is bound to be those who disagree violently with this concept, it is possible a battle can take place that will shake many communities to the roots.

Parents and taxpayers might take new interest in the idea that the school system really belongs to them because it is their children who are being educated and it is they who pay the bills.
If they insist on expressing this concern and control through a local school board of elected represent

Memo from Merrily

By Merrily Lecaese

A warm "Thank You" to all of you who visited with us at Open House. I hope you come in to see us often.

Recently I had lunch with the Extension Homemakers, Mrs. Iris Teeter and Mrs. Deb Stewart who had a good suggestion for those of us who are watching our weight and getting rather bored with low-calorie lunches, they suggested you keep a supply of cut garden vegetables such as cucumbers, carrots, and any other favorites. At lunchtime simply add a bit of mixture to a scoop of cottage cheese. If you experiment with various combinations of vegetables, the monotony of cottage-cheese-for-lunch will disappear.

Try this idea for a dinner salad too. Canned vegetables add even more variety. Try lima beans or butter beans, pickled beets mixed vegetables, green beans, or broccoli or asparagus tips.

If you have any ideas to share on food preparation or serving drop me a line at the Cooperative Extension Service, County Building, Roscommon.

Septic Tanks Leave Nutrients

By Willard Bosserman

A correctly operating septic tank and drainage field does a pretty effective job of digesting filtering, and oxidizing organic material. It does not remove plant nutrients which are in water solution and flow with the ground water. As far as nutrients are concerned, it does not make much difference if the drainage field is 50, 75, 100 or more feet from the water edge. Nutrients will eventually reach the body of water. Drainage field and septic tanks closer than 50 feet to the lake and stream can be potential health hazards.

The only effective way to cut down on the amount of nutrients going into the surface water is to cut down on the number of people going into a given area.

This can be done only through a well designed zoning ordinance that is properly administered. A zoning ordinance regulates the size of lots there by controlling the density of the population around any given lake.

Over building cabins and homes, row on row in a narrow bank around lakes, and along streams has far too long been the pattern of development.

If we are to protect our lakes and streams, we must do something to cut down on the nutrients going into our surface water.

Certain areas of high density population should seriously consider a central sewer system. In some densely populated areas a sewer system is to be a part of the new subdivision.

CHRISTMAS TREE HARVEST FESTIVAL KALKASKA NOV. 25

The second annual Christmas Tree Harvest Festival will get under way Saturday, November 25, at Kalkaska. The Festival aims to promote Michigan as the nation's tree capital and also to encourage the use of natural Christmas trees during the Christmas holiday season. Business involved in the Christmas tree industry will also be promoted at the Festival. Highlighting the Festival will be the crowning of the new Christmas Tree Queen, Miss Christie Hagar, of Kalkaska, who was chosen by a Queen's Committee from girls who worked on one of Kalkaska County's more than 30 tree plantations. She will be crowned by Tony Jo Abbenante, Miss Michigan 1967. The event is sponsored by the Kalkaska County Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Cliff Kimball, Executive Secretary.
